

21st CENTURY THINKING SKILLS

This course is designed for experienced teachers (with minimum 3 years of teaching experience). This is a course addressing one of the 21st century skills. Thus the approaches to teaching and learning will not only be of interest to teachers of English or other languages but also to subject teachers. This course provides a large amount of English practice throughout.

- The participants discuss the changing realities of education.
- They look into brain research.
- They find ways of challenging their students.
- They adapt and design activities using graphic organisers, exploring ways of checking and understanding using on-line resources.

- Experienced native and non-native teachers who teach English or other languages or subjects to Secondary students or adults.
- You need at least an intermediate level of English (B1).
- Please note that this course is NOT designed for teachers of young and very young learners.
